

Success Story

My Story: Hiep Nguyen

Growing up in Melbourne Australia, I graduated high school year 12 but in the below average class and has no further desire to further study into university. So, the next best thing I knew what to do was go to work, I started in the warehousing industry and worked in that industry for 5-6 years until 3 and half years ago one of my good friends introduced me to ACN. Straight away I caught the vision and got excited... with no business degrees and limited business experience but a strong reason why to help bring back my mum from the farm.

As an executive team leader, now we have a global business with hundreds of customers and we are looking forward to the future to impact more lives.

The success we have is due to the amazing training and support provided by ACN and the team!
