

Success Story

My Story: Kevin Singh

I was introduced to ACN in Melbourne, by a friend while I was completing a business degree at the University of Melbourne. From there as I entered the world of corporate finance. I was able to build my ACN business part time on the side.

Over time I have been able to build a business all across Australia and had the incredible opportunity of working with some of the best people.

Through building my business I even met an incredible lady whom I ended up marrying and we now have a beautiful daughter. ACN allowed me to completely change the direction of my life and have incredible choices in terms of how I can live a life by design.
